FRIDAY MARCH 6, 1908

Everybody knows how to run hotels and steamships. Everybody except the owners.

Arthur Johnstone's sonnet to Mrs. Wilcox is one of the prettiest sentiments that has been penned.

Congratulations, students of the Honolulu High School. Now give the McKinley High School a unanimous support.

The prediction by this paper that Pekin was due to be the center of the world's warlike forces is fast coming true.

If it be true that Chicago's Chief of Police Shippy is not dead, we congratulate him on having seen the anarchist first.

Taft and Bryan are getting all the outside districts. When they reach the more populous centers, then will come the tug-of-war.

Honolulu can hardly complain of a theatrical famine when a long season at the Orpheum is followed by the far-famed Liliuputians.

Alexander Hume Ford is handing high-life hope in the way of promotion ideas that will at least set people thinking though they may not act.

Roosevelt and Root are so vigorously supporting Judge Wilkey that Lorin Andrews' former Honolulu friends have decided that discretion is the better part of valor.

If Ella Wheeler Wilcox has enjoyed her stay in Honolulu one-half as much as Honolulu has been honored by Mrs. Wilcox, she has been more than repaid for her tour to Hawaii.

Secretary Taft in one of his political speeches says it is nobody's business where the Fleet is going. May he not talk that way when Kuhllo begins to ask questions in the name of the Honolulu Entertainment Committee.

Uncle Hugh would be more popular in Hawaii as a candidate for President if the pictures in the magazines were representations of his travels about the Western and Pacific section of his country rather than in Europe.

Governor Frear may be wise in taking to horseback while traveling through a Circuit where a controversy is on. We doubt that flight to the heights of Haleakala will enable him to escape the various appeals of the contending petitioners.

Japan is getting half a million for the American exhibit at Tokio "as easily as rolling off a log." While Hawaii and Seattle have to hustle like supplicants before the throne to get funds for the same general purpose, but distinctly domestic.

China's action following Japan's demand will probably depend on what European nation has the best diplomats at Pekin. Russia and Germany will not allow any points in the game for possessing China to be lost to them, if they can help it.

The day after 169 children had been killed in a school fire another school-house took fire and 1200 children got out of the building without mishap. The difference between disaster and quick escape is probably represented by the fire drill. Too great precautions cannot be taken against disastrous school-house fires, and the fire drill is the first and most important measure of safety.

The President's naval aide is reported to have appeared before the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs and given sensational evidence in connection with the recent criticism of our ships. That leaves you to infer that his testimony was not of a character to convince the Senate that there is no need for the full number of battleships asked by the Administration.

THE MCKINLEY HIGH SCHOOL

The practically unanimous support given the action of the trustees of the McKinley Memorial fund in allotting the funds at their disposal to the McKinley High School is the best evidence of the good judgment shown in the bestowal of this hitherto unused money.

It is impossible to suit everybody, and there are, no doubt, some of the advocates of other projects who wish that their representations might have been successful. The selection of the public school and the highest-grade, as well as the oldest, public school of the Territory immediately unarmed active opposition or any spirit of resentment. The public school is so vital a part of American development that it is always given precedence by practically unanimous consent.

The conditions placed upon the gift by the trustees are quite satisfactory. A very large number of people and especially the former residents of McKinley's home State believed the memorial should take the form of a statue. The trustees have provided for this. The funds are sufficient for the statue, and the library. Every remnant of a fitting memorial is satisfied.

The Bulletin extends its congratulations to those who have interested themselves in solving the problem of the memorial and to the Territory, whose present and future citizenship will profit by the example of the man and the practical equipment for life's work which the community has given in his name.

BAVERLY KIDD IS ON HIS WAY BACK

R. Beverley Kidd, who with W. A. Kinney and L. L. McCandless, represents the Democratic party in Hawaii, is on his way back to the Territory.

PRINCESS KAULANI'S MEMORY

Co., "Hawaii Pono" and "America." Their singing was excellent and Mrs. Tucker received the congratulatory of the guests.

A. L. C. Atkinson was next introduced and his catchy speech brought loud applause from the children, who evidently understood what Atkinson had said. During his speech Atkinson told the boys to play hard when it comes to play time. This remark made a great hit among the youngsters.

Alex. H. Ford when introduced said that it was a great pleasure to him to see such a fine collection of cosmopolitan races, studying in one school and serving under one flag. He told the boys that the Manchuria, which arrives tomorrow, would bring about fifty pupils from Australia and he invited the Kaulani school children to come down and sing "Aloha Oe," "Hawaii Pono" and "America," to those pupils.

When asked to address the school Mrs. Wilcox begged to be excused. Previous to and during the exercises Burton Holmes, the lecturer, and Mr. Bonine, the moving picture man, took a number of photographs of the children and the guests.

Outside of the school house, in front of the building, the pictures of the school faculty and pupils were taken as they recited and saluted the American flag, which was proudly waving at the flagstaff. Many descriptive views were taken and from what Mr. Holmes and Mr. Bonine said, they all be interesting pictures when completed.

While Governor Frear was reading the poem of Mrs. Wilcox in the assembly room, he was photographed by Mr. Holmes and Mr. Bonine.

The exercises closed with appropriate exchange of compliments and congratulations.

EHLERS

GOVERNMENT MUST ASK FOR LEPROS

Release Must Be Matter Between Nippon And United States

There is a strong possibility that the Japanese lepers now on Molokai will be allowed to go back to their native land. This scheme was broached some eight months ago, and some of the local Japanese have been working ever since to bring it about. But nothing can be done unless the request for the release of the unfortunate comes from the Japanese Government direct and not from private individuals. President Pinkham of the Board of Health does not intend, if he can help it, to have people afflicted with this contagious disease turned loose on a community, be it a Japanese or an American community.

Mr. Pinkham was asked this morning what was the status of the matter. He replied that it was brought up before the President of the Board of Health some eight months ago by a committee of Japanese. He advised them that their proper course was to have their own Government apply to the head of the Federal or the Territorial Government for the return of the lepers direct to authorized representatives of the Japanese Government. Such a course would make the transaction a matter between the two Governments and eliminate all private responsibility, and maintain Governmental authority over the disease leprosy and over segregation.

Although President Pinkham does not say so, it is known that this course is not altogether to the liking of some of the local Japanese, though it is probably the course that will have to be adopted in the end. It is not probable that the matter will be brought up at the Board of Health meeting this afternoon, as it is not yet in such shape as to make it a board matter.

ALAN DA ARRIVES

The Oceanic Steamship Alameda arrived here this afternoon at 1 o'clock from the Coast. The popular boat carried 100 passengers, a number of whom are tourists. For the first two days out of San Francisco, the Alameda ran into all kinds of bad weather, which put her 100 miles back in her passage. This however, was nearly all made up by the time the boat arrived here.

There were 1515 tons of freight on the Alameda and 255 sacks of mail. Among the passengers of note on the boat was Miss Martha Foss, who came down to be married to Mr. Fleming of Maui, the well-known polo player. Miss Foss has finished a post-graduate course at the University of California. The couple will be married this afternoon by Dr. Scudder at the home of T. H. B. Judd on Nuuanu street.

Frank Rehorn is a Fresno, California newspaper man. Dr. Leo Sexton has come down to take a position in one of the local hospitals. There are a number of tourists from Chicago and from the Coast also on board the Alameda.

The Federal Grand Jury has made an investigation of conditions at Iwilei, about which some complaint has been made. The report has not yet been presented, but it has leaked out that the Grand Jury will take the stand that the arrangements in regard to the social evil are good and that there is no ground for complaint.

ANTONIO GETS STIFF SENTENCE

Manuel is Fined For Selling Laths Belonging to Fred Harrison.

Antonio Costa, a Porto Rican who had beaten up a fellow countryman at Iwilei last night, ran into a stiff sentence on a charge of assault and battery in the Police Court this morning. He was defended by the Chillingworths, pere and fils, and they declined to put up a defense, intimating that they would reserve that for the Circuit Court.

Prosecutor Brown asked that the maximum penalty be given the defendant, who was an all-around bad egg.

"This man's guardian angel and a good lawyer have managed to keep him out of jail for some time," said Judge Andrade. "I sentence him to serve six months' imprisonment."

"That was what we both guessed that he would get," announced Chillingworth, Jr., and Sr. exhibited a paper on which he and his son had written down their guesses before sentence had been passed.

J. Manuel was sentenced to pay a $25 fine for embezzlement. He had been in charge of Fred Harrison's stables, and had sold twelve bundles of laths, belonging to the contractor, to a Japanese and had converted the profit to his own benefit.

Clarence Robinson, the young negro who made a burglarious tour of Chinatown last Sunday night, appeared to face two charges of burglary and one of larceny. The latter only was taken up, the charge being that the defendant had stolen a chicken from a Chinese, but after Clarence had entered a plea of not guilty the case was continued.

PROMOTIONISTS HEAR ADVICE FROM FORD

A. Hume Ford, the writer, appeared before the Promotion Committee at its meeting yesterday afternoon, and submitted a proposition that Hawaii should co-operate with New Zealand and Australia in their campaign for tourists. These countries would open an information bureau in New York, and while Hawaii would not be expected to contribute largely, still it might have desk room in the office and have other advantages. Ford did not ask for any remuneration for his own good services. The Committee took the matter under advisement, and assured Ford of its moral support.

Ford made several suggestions as to what might be done to improve the tourist trade. He advised, for instance, that rest houses be established on the tourist routes, where there were no public accommodations to be had at present, and that the vicinity of Kilauea and Haleakala be turned into great parks.

Washington, February 13.—George B. McClellan, secretary to Mr. Kalaniano'ole, delegate from Hawaii before the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, today advocated the passage of the Kalaniano'ole bill which provides that passengers may be transported without penalties in foreign vessels between ports of Hawaii and the United States mainland. Mr. McClellan said the service between the territory and the mainland was much worse than it was before Hawaii was annexed to the United States.
